

Let us all rise up to the unprecedented situation

Dear All,

It goes without saying that we are at the crossroad of Indian history. We are facing a situation in our motherland, which is unprecedented. There is an old saying: “When the going gets tough, the toughs get going”. From my experience, I know that the NITC fraternity is tough, resolute and compassionate.

The demands and the stresses of the present situation are not only physical in nature but are to a great extent in the psychological domain. Hence, it is very important at this critical juncture to be supportive to each other, while maintaining the social distancing. Let us be in close proximity mentally with our fellow colleagues in this trying time.

Our institute is taking all steps to adhere to the safety guidelines issued by competent authorities from time to time. Essential services and medical assistance will be available in the campus. I am available in person 24X7 in my NITC campus residence.

I do not want to repeat the oft-repeated words here again. I would only like to state that NITC fraternity stand united in this extraordinary scenario and will emerge stronger in the coming days.

Please stay at your home or at your present residential place and stay safe and healthy.

With best wishes,
